TRUSTEES DISCUSS STREETS AWARD SEWER CONTRACTS

PERMITS FOR FUEL TANKS DENIED WHEN FIREMAN TELLS BOARD OF FIRE RISK

A report on proposed repairs to Roosevelt avenue will be delivered to city authorities June 5, according to a decision of the trustees last Monday night. The survey will be made by City Engineer Dimmitt with a view to suggesting the proper method for the work.

At last Monday's meeting the trustees were told by W. H. Kelso that improvements, at least of a temporary nature, should be made at once. His suggestion that the roadway be scarified and oiled was met by City Engineer Dimmitt with the report that the base of the roadway is beyond reconstruction. The crown of the street is also about 18 inches above the property lines and will require paving to produce satisfactory results, the city engineer advised.

The contract for sewer construction on Jefferson avenue was let by the trustees to W. J. Tobin on a bid of $2,945.50. No other bids were received. The contract price is said to be below the estimate furnished by City Engineer Dimmitt.

On complaint of Mrs. S. Underhill, presented to the board by Attorney James T. O'Keefe, investigation of a stable on Stambaugh street was referred to the city health officer. OBITUARIES

George Stephen Gilbert, one of Redwood City's oldest and best known citizens, passed away at the Hollins Sanitarium last Friday night following an illness of several months. Although he had been a sufferer from heart trouble for some time, his death came as a distinct shock to his relatives and friends.

He was a man of unflinching good nature and kindly disposition and had endeared himself to many friends in this city, where he had lived since early boyhood.

Gilbert was born on his father's ranch near San Gregorio and was known to all the older residents of Redwood City. He leaves a brother, Henry, and four sisters—Mrs. Fannie A. Green, Mrs. Jessie M. Fraser, and the Misses Emma and Eva Gilbert. He was a brother of the late William Gilbert, one time county surveyor of San Mateo county.

Funeral services were conducted last Monday from the chapel of the James Crewe Undertaking Company, with interment in Union cemetery. The Rev. C. H. Stevens, pastor of the First Congregational church, said the burial service. Pallbearers were Guy P. Hull, A. D. Walsh, H. W. Schaberg, J. V. Swift, J. C. Dickey and J. F. Johnston.

PIONEER CITIZEN PASSES

Charles L. Gould, one of the oldest pioneers of Redwood City, passed away at his home on Arguello street Thursday. Mr. Gould has lived in this city for over sixty years. He came to Redwood City as a boy and worked in the butcher shop of the late Joseph Smith. Later he learned the plasterer's trade and worked at that business for fifty years.

He married in Redwood City fifty-seven years ago and has made his home on Arguello street ever since. He was a native of Canada, aged 83 years, 2 months and 5 days.

Mr. Gould is survived by his wife, Mrs. Dora Gould, three sons, Charles, Edward and Emmett Gould, and by a number of grandchildren and great grandchildren.

Charles Gould was one of the really good and substantial citizens that Redwood City has had during its corporate existence. He never did anything spectacular, but he was a home loving man. He built and owned his home and delighted to be at home with his wife and family. When he took a contract on any building the owners knew that the plaster work would be done well. He never had any political ambitions, but was ever back of any movement for the benefit of the community in which he had cast his lot.

He was not actively engaged in business for the past ten years and was a familiar figure on the streets of our city. He was not ill long and like the patriarch of old, in the fullness of years he lay down and went to sleep with his fathers.

The funeral will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late residence and will be conducted by Metamora Tribe No. 24, Order of Red Men, of which he was long a member.

AERIAL CIRCUS TO BE STAGED AT SAN MATEO TOMORROW

Price Miller, Most Daring of Aerial Acrobats, to Give Spectacular Performance

The big aerial circus at San Mateo tomorrow afternoon will be attended by more than 200 veterans from the base hospital at Menlo Park, who will be guests of the Three Cities Chamber of Commerce, which is staging the show for the benefit of an advertising fund to be spent in advertising San Mateo county and the peninsula.

The circus will present a strictly stunt program with no passenger carrying.

A parachute leap by Price Miller, late of the British Royal Flying Corps, will feature a program heralded as the most thrilling ever presented in America. Miller, an American boy, who was barred from the American corps on account of age, has developed a stunt called the "bullet drop," wherein he closes his parachute by means of a "center drag line" at an altitude of 3,000 feet, after leaping from a speed plane and drops like a bullet until within 500 feet of the ground. It is said by aviators to be the most spectacular fall ever attempted in aeronautics.

It is accomplished by means of a specially designed "chute" developed for war service by Wayne Abbott, an American aviator and inventor and director of tomorrow's circus.

The stunt was discovered by accident when Miller was attempting to "warp" his parachute to prevent falling into the sea at a recent aerial meet. It has been successfully accomplished but 14 times and by no other aviator in the world.

Other features will be wing walking by Aubrey Pedlar, who stands upright on the wings of a looping plane. Pedlar has just returned from a stunt tour of Mexico in time to participate in the show tomorrow.

There will be a parachute race between Miller and Harry Abbott, the latter hailed as one of the most daring stunt performers in America. The two men will elude simultaneously from a speeding plane at an elevation of 2,600 feet and race to the earth. Abbott has developed a drop of his own which he declares will offset the speed developed by Miller's "bullet" tactics.

In addition Abbott promises a "surprise drop," the nature of which has not been revealed but is said to be among the most thrilling parachute performances on record.

The show will start promptly at 2 p. m. Advance notices indicate that more than 35,000 persons will attend the circus, which will be held in East San Mateo near the foot of Mt. Diablo avenue.

SEQUOIA SPORTS

The interclass baseball is well under way at Sequoia. The first game was between the sophomores and the seniors Monday afternoon. The sophs won by a narrow margin of 13 to 2. Thirteen proved to be a lucky number for the sophomores and the two seniors who succeeded in making the round trips for the upper class men came in for rounds of applause from their fair sisters.

On Tuesday the battle between the freshmen and the juniors proved more interesting. The juniors winning after playing 13 rounds of very close playing. The score was 9 to 10. Scherrer made the winning run in the thirteenth.

Scherrer was elected captain of next year's varsity nine last Friday after the game with the Mission High and his winning run in the game with the Missionites and then against the freshmen are good omens of what he will do as leader of Sequoia's team next year.

The tie between the sophomores and juniors Thursday was as pretty and exciting a contest as any seen on the field this year. The score after 11 innings was 8 to 8. The game was played off yesterday and the winners will meet an aggregation of alumni and faculty players next Monday afternoon.

The faculty-alumni team will be made up of Bob Fox, pitcher; Helms Beeger, catcher; Eric Thompson, third; Jim Hedge, fielder, and the following faculty players: Cuthbertson, first; Argo, second; Griffin, short; Meyers, center, and John Gill, right field. The game will be called at 2:30 and it is expected that a record breaking crowd will be in attendance. It is thought that the chamber of commerce will ask for a cessation of all business and legal affairs in Redwood City while the game is in progress.

This will probably be the last of the large parties to be given before the vacation season and a record breaking attendance is expected.

HIRAM JOHNSON

Hon Hiram Johnson is seeking re-election as United States senator from California. It is more than probable that Mr. Johnson will have no opposition. He should have no opposition. He will be elected any way, but it would be a courtesy to him and an honor to California to return him to the United States senate without the necessity of making a campaign.

Senator Johnson in a short space of time has become a national figure. He has acted a universal note from the time he first entered politics and his connection with our great president, Theodore Roosevelt, marked him as a figure of great importance. Senator Johnson has always been a fighter. Whenever he sees anything that should be righted his coat is off and he is hot after the thing. Once in a fight his opponent has to beware of him, for he is a brawny, brainy, two-fisted fellow who knows how to reach the solar plexus. He has had a tremendous following in the past and his six years' service in the upper house of the United States government has not diminished his popularity. We could relate at length the things he has done as a national legislator, but these things are too well known to the public to need repetition.

The following resolutions have been adopted by the county Republican committee:

"Whereas, California has been served with high distinction by Honorable Hiram W. Johnson, both as Governor and United States Senator, and the prosperity now enjoyed by this state during a period of business depression elsewhere is in a large part due to his vigilant attention to its material needs and interests; and

"Whereas, his courageous and forceful advocacy of every true American ideal has made him one of the greatest figures in our national life, and the influence which he exerts at Washington is of incalculable value to the people of California; and

"Whereas, he has always been a conspicuous champion of measures dedicated to the welfare of men and women who toil, and has thereby earned the enduring gratitude and affection of workers throughout the country; and

"Whereas, his unwavering adherence to progressive principles and issues has endeared him to all classes of forward looking people; now,

"Therefore be it resolved that the Republican county central committee of San Mateo county hereby pledges its enthusiastic endorsement to the candidacy of the Honorable Hiram Johnson for re-election to the United States senate and respectfully urges the Republican voters of this county to give him their undivided support at the coming elections."

SENATOR SHORTRIDGE

Among the most distinguished supporters of the much discussed four-power treaty is Samuel M. Shortridge of Menlo Park.

Opposing Senator Reed of Missouri, Senator Francis of Maryland, Senator Caraway of Arkansas and others on the floor of the senate recently, in a speech devoted to consideration of the treaty, Mr. Shortridge demonstrated beyond all question the wisdom of California voters in selecting him to present their claims and defend their interests in the highest and most august councils of the nation.

Replying to charges that the four-power pact will bind the United States to war in support of foreign imperialistic policies, Senator Shortridge said in part:

"When my country shall have entered into this agreement, if it does, it will continue a sovereign nation, unbound and unshackled, the master of her own destiny, and we, the congress, will continue to have the power, co-operating with the executive, to shape the policy of this nation in peace time and in war time."

The treaty making power, I remind the senators, is not all-comprehensive. There are well known limitations to the treaty making power, and I wish to emphasize, if I may, that if this four-power treaty undertook directly, expressly, or impliedly, to commit this nation in the future to an act of war, or to a declaration of war, it or any such provision in a treaty would be utterly null and void.

In referring to a supplemental clause of the treaty dealing with questions of domestic jurisdiction of the signatory powers, Senator Shortridge said in part:

"This is a solemn recognition that the United States has a right to determine the question of immigration without offending justice, under the law, any other nation; and to us of the Pacific Coast that is a great and important recognition of a vital right."

MENLO PARK NEWS

Mrs. Hugo Kiel, who died in San Francisco during the week, spent her girlhood here at the old Goodall place on Glenwood avenue now owned by A. G. C. Hahn. She was the daughter of the late Capt. Charles Goodall, founder of the pioneer shipping firm of Goodall, Nelson & Perkins of San Francisco. She was the widow of the former police commissioner of San Francisco. Mrs. Kiel was a member of the Century and Sorosis Clubs and spent much of her time at her country home, "Shug Harbor," in Marin county. Mrs. Kiel is survived by a sister, Mrs. Flora G. Bland of Belvedere, and by two brothers, Capt. H. W. Goodall and Capt. Charles M. Goodall.

Samuel M. Shortridge, Jr., returned from Washington last Saturday, where he had spent a month. During his stay there he met many of the cabinet officers and made acquaintance with many of the leading men of the country. He called upon the president, with whom he had a long conference. The president appeared to be well informed on California affairs, particularly the political situation. Mr. Shortridge, who went to the capital on legal business for his firm, familiarized himself with the procedure in several of the departments. He comes home with a fund of knowledge that will aid him in his federal practice. Mr. Shortridge is glad to get back to the balmy breezes and sunshine of Menlo Park. While at the capital the thermometer registered 99 degrees in the shade. Some heat for the young Californian to endure. However, the weather became milder and the visitor from the west was enabled to enjoy many of the gayeties of the national capital.

Complaints are heard on all sides since the fire alarm discontinued its alarm at 8 o'clock in the morning and at 6 in the afternoon. It still continues its blasts at the noon hour. The fire commissioners, owing to a few complaints by local residents, stopped the alarm at those hours. It is to be hoped they will again resume the old practice of giving the blasts as heretofore for the benefit of the entire community who want to know when to begin work and when to quit without consulting their time pieces. Yesterday the fire commissioners made arrangements for the citizens to vote upon the question. A roster is at the fire house and all those interested are asked to come and express their opinion by voting. The polls will close on May 22. This procedure will dispose of the vexatious question satisfactorily.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Smith of San Francisco have just opened their beautiful summer home on Santa Cruz avenue for the season. Smith is a prominent business man of San Francisco.

Miss Waltra Linfoth, the charming young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Linfoth and one of the most skillful riders on the peninsula, took part in the rodeo at Santa Clara University on Sunday last. She carried off several prizes for her daring riding.

The girls of Trinity parish have organized a Campfire unit with the following charter members: Misses Janet Johansen, Leah Carter, Lucy M. Treagie, Norma Gugliemone, Lucille Escalante, Florence Sullivan, Matilda Sturzenberger, Henrietta Hindes and Rae Morris. Sponsors of the movement are Mrs. Adele G. Brainerd, Miss Bertha Buck, Mrs. L. F. Booz and Mrs. E. B. Hindes. Deaconess Margaret Booz is guardian of the Menlo Campfire and Miss Gene Bentley is assistant.

Plans for the benefit circus and horse show to be given by the children of Menlo Park and the surrounding community for the Stanford Home for Convalescent Children have been made. The circus will be held June 10 at the A. G. C. Hahn field and will far exceed in brilliance last year's successful show.

James F. Hogan, the artist from the base hospital, is wielding the brush on the Menlo Park Hotel with artistic effect. The hotel is crowded with men employed at the base hospital and is doing a rushing business.

The sixth anniversary of the organization of Menlo Park, N. D. G. W., will be celebrated by the members with a dinner to be given at a downtown cafe in San Francisco next week. The entire parlor will participate in the festivities.

John Maloney, a former resident of Menlo Park, came down from the city Thursday to visit friends and to wind up his business affairs here. A San Francisco contractor who recently bought several acres in Valparaiso Park will shortly start the erection of ten cottages to be rented to San Francisco people. The buildings are all spoken for.

Dr. Kurtz is arranging to remodel the Menlo Pharmacy and to install a number of new glass show cases and other fixtures so that the pharmacy will be one of the most attractive on the peninsula.

A spirited game of baseball will take place tomorrow afternoon between a line composed of the members of Menlo Park, N. S. G. W., and a team from the Halfmoon Bay Native Sons on the local diamond. The fans anticipate a good game.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Doughty entertained the members of the bi-weekly card club of the Companions of the Forest at their pretty home on Laurel avenue Tuesday evening. After the game, delightful refreshments were served by the clever hostess. Thirty persons were present.

The card party and dance to be given at the Hall of the Nativity under the management of the ladies of the Church of the Nativity Wednesday evening, May 24, promises to be an enjoyable event. The prizes are to be unusually good and the music will be the very best.

A sale of prize shorthorn cattle has just been held at the Ormonde Portola ranch.

FIRST KNOT HALTED— SECOND IS TIED TIGHT

After obtaining two marriage licenses, Matt Ross, a painter of San Francisco, and Mrs. Rose Chandler, divorcee, were married here Tuesday by Judge Ray Griffin.

The couple first appeared here at the office of County Clerk Elizabeth M. Nash on April 17 and secured the necessary document with which to have the knot tied.

Upon enlisting the services of Judge Griffin, famous "marrying justice" of San Mateo county, the happy couple were informed by his honor that they could not be legally married. Gloom began to gather about the corners of the famous judicial chambers and was soon hanging in large globs from the ceiling and the historic chandeliers.

The reason for the sad news and the gloom was explained to the palpitating pair before the altar of justice and matrimony. Mrs. Chandler had neglected to have her final decree of divorce recorded in San Francisco, although a year had elapsed since its granting.

The couple hastened back to the city by the golden gate and there it is stated they had the necessary papers daily organized, qualified, recorded and everything.

Last Tuesday they again presented themselves at the office of Mrs. Nash. They were told that the previous license was still good, but they decided against taking a chance with papers that had once proved unworkable.

A brand new license was thereupon made out and the pair departed to the Griffin sanctum. In lieu of wedding bells the chandeliers were rung of their gloom and the marriage was duly consummated by his honor.

Judge Griffin was presented by the happy groom with a large jug of Old Taylor root beer and a good time was had by all, according to unofficial reports from several outside precincts.

WHITE PELICANS VISIT BEACH AT BABYLON

One of the exceptional sights of San Francisco Bay is the white pelicans which visit Babylon, a resort on the bay beach at San Carlos.

The birds have a wing spread of more than eight feet and are of a pure white color. They are said to visit the beach at Babylon in search of shrimps and other small sea animals on which they feed.

Recently visitors at Babylon, formerly the Ohio building at the Panama Pacific exposition, reported the presence of 27 pelicans which settled in front of the building, covering a large area of the lagoon which adjoins the bay.

As they swim on the water the birds are more than twice the size of the domestic goose and present a most unusual sight as they maneuver about in search of food.

Flocks of the smaller brown pelicans are frequently seen along the beach, but the large white pelicans which make regular early morning visits at Babylon are said to be among the rarest and most interesting specimens of bird life observed along the Pacific coast.

AERIAL CIRCUS ANNOUNCED TO BE HELD IN SAN MATEO

A huge aerial circus, larger than any previously attempted and embodying many new stunts and under the management of an old time showman, Wayne Abbott, who handled the special events at the San Francisco exposition under Frank Burt, is planned by the Three Cities Chamber of Commerce at San Mateo, Sunday, May 21.

Already plans have been completed arranging for some of the world's most famous daredevils and stunt men for the occasion to perform their gyrations far above the heads of the monstrous crowd expected to attend.
